

The background of the cover is a dark, atmospheric painting. It depicts a dense forest of bare trees, with a large, weathered stone monument or tombstone in the foreground. A small, dark figure is visible in the distance on the right side. The overall color palette is muted, consisting of dark greens, browns, and greys, creating a somber and mysterious mood.

Father Oswald lived many years in the family as chaplain; he retired from thence at length, and died in his own monastery.

Edmund Lord Lovel lived to old age, in peace, honour and happiness; and died in the arms of his children.

Sir Philip Harclay caused the papers relating to his son's history to be collected together; the first part of it was written under his own eye in Yorkshire, the subsequent parts by Father Oswald at the Castle of Lovel. All these, when together, furnish a striking lesson to posterity, of the over-ruling hand of Providence, and the certainty of RETRIBUTION.
