

The background of the cover is a detailed landscape painting. It depicts a wide valley with a river winding through it. The foreground is filled with tall grasses and various trees, some with small white flowers. The middle ground shows a dense forest of trees. The sky is a deep, dark blue, suggesting a twilight or stormy atmosphere. The overall style is that of a 19th-century landscape painting.

Epilogue

Lisa had hidden herself—that he saw her. Crossing over from choir to choir, she walked close past him, moving with the even, hurried, but meek walk of a nun; and she did not glance at him; only the eyelashes on the side towards him quivered a little, only she bent her emaciated face lower, and the fingers of her clasped hands, entwined with her rosary, were pressed still closer to one another. What were they both thinking, what were they feeling? Who can know? who can say? There are such moments in life, there are such feelings... One can but point to them—and pass them by.
